

Do you want to do your MSc project within an International project, based in Uppsala but with a chance to travel?

Topic:

Integrated Solid Waste Management in West Africa.

Mission:

To bring international experiences together to make recommendations for improved waste management.

Task:

Your specific task will be defined based on your interests and the tasks in the project. A specific task of interest is energy and greenhouse gas analysis of waste management systems

Challenges:

Communication and coordination in an international project with 20 partner organizations from 10 countries.

Opportunities:

An introduction to international waste management, an international network of professional contacts, a special final touch on your MSc degree.

Who are you?

A final year MSc student, with a background in Engineering, Natural Science or Social Science, with an Environmental specialization. Very good English skills are required;

Who will you work with?

Cecilia Sundberg researcher at the Department of Energy and Technology, SLU.

When?

You can start anytime between August 2011 and January 2012

Interested?

Contact Cecilia Sundberg, cecilia.sundberg@slu.se, 018-671811